Supposed News from a Long Missing

It will be rembered that about a year ago Mr. Schultz, traveling salesman and collector for Barbour, Stedman & Co. of this city, disappeared in a most mysof this city, disappeared in a most mysterious manner, and has not been heard from since that time. No account for his strange absence could be given except that he had been foully dealt with. Mrs. Schultz recently received a letter dated in Texas and purporting to come from her husband: It expressed a desire, on the part of the writer, to return home, provided matters could be settled satisfactorily. Mrs. Schultz did not recognize the writing as that of her hussatisfactorily. Mrs. Schultz did not recognize the writing as that of her nusband, and when shown to members of the firm of Barbour & Stedman, they also the firm of Barbour & Stedman, they also ignored the handwriting. The signeture did not contain the initials of the missing man by which he was known here, and the Post-officer Directory, moreover, showed up no such office at which the letter was dated. It is supposed that the writer is an impostor attempting to obtain money from the friends of the missing man; nevertheless, measures have been taken to investigate the matter.
